MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 1.

WHY OKLAHOMA IS COVETED.—"I was down in that Oklahoma country three years ago," said an officer of Gen. Miles' staff, at the Cafe Royal. "It is certainly a beautiful region for the agriculturist, and it is no wonder the lands are coveted. The soil is rich and well watered, the country is a rolling prairie, the climate is mild and equable, the grass in summer is 'belly deep,' and two railroads are now built through the heart of the vast, unoccupied domain. Anything can be grown there that will grow in Missouri or Arkansas. It would be the finest fruit country in the world. At Fort Reno peaches, pears and plums are raised which cannot be equaled anywhere outside of California. The most magnificent corn I ever saw is raised in Oklahoma by the few half breeds allowed to till the soil. There are splendid streams, the Canadian river and its north fork, which course through the land. There is no snow, very little frost, and never a sign of a blizzard. It does seem a pity that such a superb agricultural region should be shut out from settlement and given over in perpetuity to a worthless lot of Indians, who cannot use it even as a hunting ground."—San Francisco Examiner.
